$11,000,000 ARENA PROPOSED

Will Call Tenders New Tb. Hospital In Near Future

Tenders for the construction of the $1,500,000 Aberhart Memorial Hospital will be called for in the very near future, it was learned here Saturday.

The building, to be named after the late Premier William Aberhart, Alberta's first Social Credit premier, will be located on the University of Alberta campus.

Through construction of a tuberculosis sanatorium in Edmonton has been projected by the provincial government for a number of years, and has been reflected in estimates annually, war-time shortages of materials have delayed a start on the structure until the present.

IT IS BELIEVED the government has now been assured that sufficient building material will be placed at the disposal of successful tenderers for the work.

Estimated cost of the building has been increased, but it is said sufficient money was set aside in the 1947 estimates for an immediate start on construction. Predictions are voiced that estimates to be tabled at the coming session of the legislature will reflect the increased cost.

Original plans for the hospital have been rejected, according to senior sources in order that the new hospital would be abreast of latest developments in Tb treatment.

Says Crown "Insists" Accused to Appear High Court Monday

Unprecedented charges of conspiring to publish a defamatory libel, laid against a magazine publisher, a newspaper reporter and a welfare authority, will be tried in Alberta's supreme court with their first appearance set for next Monday.

IN POLICE COURT here yesterday, Magistrate Hendry L. Howe ordered three Ontario persons committed for trial despite defence contentions the charges were not within the Criminal Code and a challenge to the freedom of the press in Canada.

Magistrate Howe set bail at $1,000 and ordered a $500 surety filed for each of the accused. Frank Cooke of Toronto, publisher of New Liberty Magazine, Harold Dignam of Ottawa and Dr. Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa, Canadian welfare expert.

As the four-day preliminary hearing wound up yesterday, defence counsel contended the charges launched by the Alberta attorney-general's department were "improper," "submitting conspiracy counts had been made in the Criminal Code and have the defendants tried in Alberta courts.

Wallace Heyburn, managing editor of the magazine, said the constables served the warrant shortly before noon today and the staff had turned over all files to the RCMP.

Mr. Cooke, together with Harold Dignam, Ottawa editor, and Dr. Charlotte Whitton welfare worker, have been committed for trial at Edmonton, Alta, on charges of conspiring to publish a defamatory libel. Their trial starts next Monday.

The charges arose from publication of the article dealing with child welfare conditions in Alberta. Written by Dr. Dignam, it was based on a report on child welfare conditions in the province prepared by Dr. Whitton for the provincial chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

Mr. Heyburn said the telegram sought an allegedly instructing magazine distributors in Alberta to disregard a government order to withdraw the magazine from news stands.

Rapid Progress Being Made on Oil Refinery Construction

With more than 80% of the dismantling project of the Whitehorse Refinery completed, equipment is arriving daily at the Imperial Oil Refinery site just east of Edmonton. Approximately 400 men are now employed at the refinery site working the normal day shift, as the construction makes satisfactory progress. In the top picture are seen hundreds of feet of tie piping shipped from eastern Canada, which will be used for the installation of sewers. In the lower picture is the mechanical shop building under construction. Advanced to approximately the same stage as the mechanical shops building is the No. 2 Warehouse.

Direction of one of the large storage tanks is almost completed while another tank is about one-third completed. Friday afternoon cranes were busy hoisting into their proper places large sections of various units including the two large furnaces skimming one of the fractionating towers. A shipment of equipment aboard the freighter Noctua which took ten days to load is scheduled to leave Calgary this week-end for Vancouver. At Vancouver the shipment will be transferred from the steamer onto freight cars and transported to the Edmonton site.

TENS OF THOUSANDS MOURN AT GANDHI'S FUNERAL PYRE

As Funeral Broadcast New Violence Erupts

BOMBAY, Jan. 31.—(Reuters)—Grief-maddened crowds, shouting "burn them out" exploded in sudden scenes of violence in Bombay and Poona today as a minute-by-minute radio description of the funeral of Mohandas K. Gandhi, assassinated in New Delhi yesterday, boomed out over loudspeakers set up in the streets.

In both cities large numbers of people were attacked and in some cases crowds set fire to a number of premises connected with India's extreme orthodox Hindu political organization—the Hindu Mahasabha which has followed the Communist line in contrast to the long-standing of Hindu-Muslim unity.

A curfew had been imposed in one area until 7 p.m. local time.

By G. Milton Kelly
 NEW DELHI, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi's youngest son touched off the funeral pyre that consumed the wasted body of the martyred Mahatma today in the Hindu tradition.

Tens of thousands of Indians, sobbing and shouting the Mahatma's name, surged forward as Devadas Gandhi, heavy with grief, placed live coals on the pyre just above his father's heart and set ablaze the lower portion of the pile of sandalwood logs.

A tremendous sobbing chant surged from the crowd—a Hindu hymn for India's prophet of peace, struck down last night by an assassin's bullet as he went to a prayer meeting. In a mighty roaring union, the crowd chanted the prayer of the last rites, as police struggled to restrain the grieving people.

DEVADAS GANDHI'S face was taut with the strain as he applied the coals. The sandalwood crackled. Smoke spiraled heavenward.

The Mahatma's ashes are to remain at the pyre, on the banks of the River Jumna, for a day and a half. Then they are to be gathered and taken to the River Ganges—sacred to his Hindu faith—and thrown into the waters in the manner traditional with Hindus.

India was gripped with fear of what may come in the wake of the funeral.

Alderman Wants Issue 'Baby' Bonds For Rink Building

A sports arena with a seating capacity of more than 10,000 and costing approximately $1,000,000 is proposed for Edmonton by Ald. Sidney Parsons, the project to be financed by the issue of "baby bonds."

Ald. Parsons said he did not favor "city council through taxation building such a structure, but did favor, and suggested, that a semi-public board of directors be set up to foster the project." He added that an issue of baby bonds could be made to raise the capital needed for this structure.

Under Ald. Parsons' proposed plan these bonds would be issued over a period of three years, the period, he estimates, it would take to complete the proposed structure.

Ald. PARSONS said an ideal location for the proposed arena would be on Kingsway.

In this area there is ample land for a site and plenty of parking space, and direct transportation to the Edmonton Transit Station can be provided from all parts of the city.

Under his plan he considered it possible that the City of Edmonton could bear approximately one-sixth of the cost of construction.

HE POINTED to the fact that the present arena was constructed to serve a city with a population of approximately 70,000, and was now entirely too small to cater to the ever-growing hockey audiences. Ald. Parsons said that in making this proposal, he was not in any way criticizing the arena management.

Ald. Parsons expressed the opinion that sufficient public spirited citizens and sports fans would be found to subscribe the capital required to construct this greatly needed sports arena in Edmonton.

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—(CP)—The Commons' committee on food prices will be asked to investigate the causes of the recent rise in the cost of living as well as profiteering and hoarding, Prime Minister Mackenzie King disclosed today.

The Commons' order paper contained the names of 16 members to act on the committee, the establishment of which the Prime Minister will move Monday. Among them was Health Minister Martin, who probably will be named chairman.

Mr. King's "order of motion said the committee would be asked to examine and report from time to time on:

1. THE CAUSES of the recent rise in the cost of living.
 2. Prices which have been raised beyond levels justified by increased costs.
 3. Rises in prices due to the acquiring, accumulating or withholding of goods from sale by any persons, firms or corporations of any goods beyond amounts reasonably required for the ordinary purposes of their businesses.

The members who would sit on the committee include C. E. Johnson (C., Winnipeg North), Stanley Knowles (CCF, Winnipeg North Centre), Health Minister Martin, Minister of Finance (C., Ottawa), Mr. W. Mayhew, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott; Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner; C. C. Merritt, V.C. (C., Vancouver-Burrard); A. N. McPherson (CCF, MacKenzie); Arthur Smith (PC, Calgary West) and B. M. Winter, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott.

4 ATTEND RALLY OF LEGION BRANCHES

14 Groups Represented

First rally of Canadian Legion branches in the Edmonton and district zone was attended by about 400 people Friday night in the hall of Kingsway branch, No. 175, at the corner of 105 street and Kingsway avenue.

Kingsway branch was host to the 14 Legion branches which comprise Zone No. 1 of No. 2 North-western District, at the first such rally held since Canadian Legion reorganization of districts at last June's provincial convention.

Following were the Legion branches invited to the rally, and the representatives who attended: Edmonton Women's branch No. 315, (Mrs. Helen Stewart); Edmonton Veterans' branch No. 34, Col. E. "Ted" Brown; Fort Saskatchewan, N. W. McDougall; Millet, E. C. Baker; Strathcona, D. Roberts; Edmonton, T. Peter; Norwood branch No. 178, Dr. W. Orosko; Norville branch, A. Reid; Clifton branch, Mr. Coleman; Lamont, A. G. Lefay; branches of Rev. Leduc, Stinky Lake were also invited to the inaugural rally.

Local auxiliary representative was Mrs. W. G. Peterson, M.B.E. George Gleave, M.A., first vice-president of the Alberta provincial command, re-elected the provincial executive.

Reception committee consisted of Mrs. G. E. Gleave, Mrs. J. Murray, Mrs. H. Taylor.

ORGANIZER N conjunction with some executive members, was W. R. "Bob" Hythman, supervisor of special Legion activities. Addresses were given by Roy Taylor, president of the Kingsway branch; J. E. Murray, zone commander; W. W. Taylor, S.O., superintendent of rehabilitation, department of veterans' affairs.

Master of ceremonies of the social program after the first meeting was Harold Wright.

"We make history tonight," said Mr. Taylor, Kingsway branch president, "in this first meeting of all branches from the city and the surrounding district." "We are gathering together in order that we might know one another... and stand together."

Col. Crumb, superintendent of rehabilitation, of the Edmonton division of the department of veterans' affairs, gave a statistical outline of the DVA program, based on the most recent figures available.

HE REVEALED that in this DVA region, 96 per cent of veterans on farms either are already, or are on their way towards being established, and that only two per cent have not succeeded.

Col. Crumb said that 96 per cent of veterans who attempted business ventures are still maintaining their businesses. "Veterans aren't using all their established credits now," said the DVA officer. He emphasized that veterans have been cautious in spending during the "war" stage of the post war era, and illustrated with the figure that out of nine and one-half million dollars worth of re-establishment credits, Canadian veterans had spent but six million.

Col. Crumb mentioned the splendid co-operation which DVA has received from Alberta Legion branches.

J. E. Murray, commander of Zone No. 1 of No. 2 Northwestern district, stated during a brief address that next summer a mammoth gathering of all members and their families of Zone No. 1 will be held at Elk Island.

GEORGE GLEAVE, Alberta Legion command first vice-president, said to the branches that he reviewed the history, and the aims and objects of the Legion. Gleave stated that at the coming Dominion Legion convention, he would be discussing the housing, the rising cost of living and pensions will be discussed.

These children, patients in the provincial special unit, University Hospital, spent many years in hospital and may spend many more there. Little Bobby Kenig, upper left-hand corner, is a four-year-old with dislocated hips. An orphan, he is just about the most cheerful and most popular tot in the building. Like Bobby, Jose Jousky, second from the left, has spent most of her 6 years in hospital. She is busy putting "tractions" on her right arm, a process with which she is quite familiar. Jose's 7th of the spine calls for a cast around the upper half of her torso. Lawrence Dorn, 11 years old and hobby from the left, is busy at his favorite hobby—making small felt animals. He is working on a rabbit which will delight some other little patient. Like the baby at the right, Baby Quinney is afflicted with a skin disease which necessitates tubes on his arms to prevent scratching of his face. In the lower corner is Mrs. V. V. Shearer, Junior Hospital League teacher, showing Kenny Kirsh a difficult crocheting stitch. Kenny, 7th of the spine, has been for three years because of 7th of the spine.

Hospitalized Children Busy With 3 R's and Handicrafts

By FRANCES ODDIES

To some children in the provincial special unit of the University hospital, the hospital has always been home. To some it always will be home. Many have never known what it is to be healthy. Crippled with polio, or fractured, or with Th. disintegrating their bones, time could be heavy on their hands.

BUT WHETHER their stay is a matter of days or whether it is to be healthy, and things for their busy hands and minds to do. School in the morning and handicrafts in the afternoon provide for many hours of tedium-free activity for the older children. If they are old enough to handle a needle and thread, they make toys. If they are not old enough to make them, they play with them. They participate in activities, most of which are probably foreign to the average child. Knitting isn't a "dainty" pastime, according to several of the boys who are experts with the needle. One 16-year old knits and crochets beautifully. He is proud of her pupils' efforts and enthusiastic about leatherwork and shoe-making. And his handiwork activities with his skill on the accordion.

EMPHASIS is placed on group work. One community effort is an old-fashioned hooked-rug—another is a raggy-shaggy rug—another at all. By adding a rag here and a square there, children who are patients for only a short time not only keep themselves at a distance from the required deposit. He kept the vehicle for more than three and one-half days.

Took U-Drive Car On NSF Check

After holding a U-drive car for 86 hours, breaking its speedometer cable and depositing the check for the required deposit, he kept the vehicle for more than three and one-half days.

He had obtained the car from a city garage, leaving a $50 cheque for the required deposit. He kept the vehicle for more than three and one-half days.

He was charged with false pretences and pleaded guilty. Magistrate A. L. Miller, N.C., remanded him for sentence.

Canadian Shipping For Alaska Trade

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—(CP)—Senator Homer Capehart (Rep., Ind.), yesterday launched a fresh effort to obtain the service of Canadian shipping for Alaskan inter-trade.

He introduced a bill to amend the merchant shipping laws of the United States to permit Canadian vessels to carry passengers and freight between Alaskan ports. Under existing legislation Canadian registry vessels are allowed to handle Alaskan ports. They are not allowed to pick up and set down freight between Alaskan ports and American vessels are not operating there in substantial numbers to handle the business.

The Coming Russian Terror

By Stanislaw Mikolajczyk
Former Prime Minister of Poland and President of the Polish Peasant Party

Installment XXIV

In today's installment, Stanislaw Mikolajczyk tells how his native Poland was forced to pay reparations to its "allies," Russia, and how his country was transformed into a police state by mass arrests, amnesties, and Communist capture of old political parties.—EDITOR.

Russia's economic enslavement of Poland began at the command appearance of the Polish provisional government in Moscow in August, 1945, only a month after the Americans and British had left the Potsdam Conference more or less content that they had insured the future freedom of our country.

ON THE SECOND NIGHT of our Moscow "talks," three Polish Communists, who had been placed high in the provisional government by Stalin, agreed to give the USSR a 51 per cent share in the ownership and management of the properties we had acquired in the area which Poland had ruled must be administered by the Polish government.

The Poles who bowed to this demand were President Bialy, Henryk Minc, minister of industry and commerce, and Foreign Minister Zygmunt Modzelewski. They arrived back at our headquarters at 6 a.m. reeling drunk and apparently pleased with their deal.

"I'll never agree to this," I told them, and then I received support from a wholly unexpected source. Prime Minister Olski-Morawski had not been invited to attend the session of the night before. The snub hurt his vanity. He strongly objected to the deal and, for once, Russia offered a counter-proposal.

IT DEMANDED 15,000,000 tons of Polish coal per year during the Red Army's occupation of Germany. That meant most of our coal. At first Molotov insisted that no charge be made for the coal, but after much argument it was agreed that Russia would pay the bare cost of mining it, which was between $5 and 6 a ton.

However, after Olski-Morawski officially signed the agreement we discovered that Minc had permitted the Russians to insert a clause whereby they had to pay only $2.5 a ton. We had been offered $12 a ton—later $16—by Denmark and Sweden.

I stormed at this robbery but was accused of trying to break Soviet-Polish relations. I reminded them that the Swedish were willing to give us 100,000,000 kroner of credit in advance, and that from this we could obtain the transport, food, tools and electrical supplies our country so desperately needed in its rehabilitation program.

I TOLD THEM that we had now agreed to pay the USSR—which should be paying us—the equivalent of $100,000,000 a year. Olski-Morawski sneered. "You seem to forget how much Soviet Russia has done for us; how it liberated us and helped us."

"Helped us?" I shouted. "If Hitler had not attacked them they would still be the enemy of Poland and all the Allies."

But it was useless. The thing had been done. We were dismayed the vassals and told to go back to Warsaw.

The political enslavement of Poland had progressed since we left. The Communists had set up Communist parties with the same names as the established independent parties of Poland, or had seized control of the top positions of those parties. For instance, the Christian Labor Party, headed by Karol Popiel, who had been invited to return to Warsaw by a Big Three agreement and re-establish his party, eventually underwent a surprising change. Popiel was removed as chairman by the Security Police and replaced by Feliks Winiwsky, an admitted atheist and avowed shortie.

MY OWN PEASANT PARTY had a rival of the same name but Communist. And it was in this atmosphere of tremendous political disorder and bewilderment that I left Poland to attend the formal meeting of U.N.'s Food and Agricultural Organization in Quebec.

While in Quebec and later in Washington, where I saw President Truman briefly, I obtained considerable UNRRA aid for Poland. But first Deputy Prime Minister Gomulka simultaneously ordered the start of the newspaper attacks on me as a "Trojan Horse," "servant of Capitalism," and "reactionary."

The chairman of my party, Winiwsky, died while I was abroad. Upon my return to Poland in November, 1945, I consulted the task of reorganizing the Peasant Party so as to separate it from the Communist group of the same name. That job had begun in September at the annual meeting of provincial units of the party in Krakow.

THE DAY AFTER THAT September meeting, Wladyslaw Kojder, a member of my executive committee, was dragged from his home by Security Police. His body was found in a nearby woods with 30 bullets in it. We were later able to establish full proof that Mikolajczyk, commander of the Security Police in Reszow, and the secretary of the Communist Party in Przemyśl were responsible for the murder.

Upon my return to Warsaw after that Krakow meeting, I learned also that 500 members of the Polish Peasant Party—as we now called ourselves—had been arrested at Tarnobrzeg.

The inhuman suppression of the democratic forces which had been guaranteed to Poland by the Atlantic Charter, Tehran, Yalta and Potsdam had begun. Let me summarize in the briefest possible manner the subsequent Communist campaign against the Polish Peasant Party.

THE SECURITY POLICE killed our General Secretary, Jolanta Schiborska. Then, a year later and on the eve of the fixed election, they started a "trial" in which they attempted to prove that we ourselves had ordered the illegal Polish underground to murder Schiborska. During the "trial," they treacherously involved Marian Dmochowska, an employee of the U.S. Embassy, forced her to "confess" and sentenced her to five years in prison.

At least seven complete Polish villages were burned to the ground because their people refused to become Communists. No one can estimate the number of houses burned in other cities and villages and the value of the properties confiscated.

King Leopold III Starts Vacation Trip to Cuba

came from Oesbka - Morawski, Jacob Bernan, the so-called vice minister to the prime minister's office but in reality the head of the Polish Politburo, Foreign Minister Modzelewski and the vice minister of Justice, Leon Chajn. They infuriated me especially when they called me a "traitor" and "unpatriotic."

WHO ARE YOU to teach me patriotism? I asked. "I was raised on Polish soil. I was nurtured by Polish mother's milk. I fought for Poland's independence when I was 17, and at 20 against the Bolsheviks, and at 40 against the Nazis and the Reds. I fought in 1939 when we were conspiring the Ribbentrop-Molotov agreement. You set yourselves up as patriots and yet you take your orders each day by telephone from outside our country. I never served any country except Poland, and never will."

To hear Modzelewski denounce me was more than I could bear at this time.

"You're a fine Pole," I shouted at him. "Your real name is Fischer and you were a citizen of Soviet Russia." I said a lot of other things before I was through. And I finished.

"But I have one thing to thank you for. Your attacks on me have had just the opposite effect from that which you desired. The more you must tell them in a public statement that they lie; that we are not a police state," he ordered.

"But we are." I answered. "If you want to stop such talk, stop the cruel and inhuman activity of the Security Police. Remove the cause of their statements and you will not need to hear the consequences."

Oklahoma Law School Confusion

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 31.—AP.—A white man sought to enroll yesterday in Oklahoma's new law school for Negroes, injecting a new element of confusion into the state's efforts to preserve racial segregation in education.

Negroes have opened the new law school, which opened its doors Monday, and pressed for admission to the all-white University of Oklahoma.

But yesterday Walter Harrison, newspaper man and former army officer, demanded the right of becoming first student in the new school.

Harrison, 37-year-old former managing editor of the Oklahoma City Oklahoman and Thirer, told reporters that his application was made in good faith and he was ready to start classes.

Members of the law school's three-man faculty, who had waited for a Negro pupil, were caught off balance by Harrison's move. They first rejected his application because he was not a Negro, then told him he would get a final answer.

CALGARY STAMPEDES
BOUNCE QUAKERS

CALGARY, Jan. 31.—(CP)—Calgary Stampede cut loose with their vaunted scoring power midway through the second period last night to overcome a three-goal deficit and eke out a 4-3 victory over Saskatoon Quakers in a Western Canada Senior Hockey League contest before more than 5,000 fans.

The win moved Calgary back to first place in the Regina Capitals and showed Edmonton Flyers into third. The last time Quakers just two points in front of the out-of-control Lethbridge Stampedes, only a single point separates the top three clubs.

POOR FINISH under the net and the tenuous back-checking of the Quakers forwards held Stampede away by a through the first 20 minutes of the game, while Stampede was rolling up a 3-0 lead on two goals by Ed Penn and a singleton by Joe Sutter.

The Stampede broke out in a spate of scoring to bring home four straight goals to take the contest. Bob Howbridge and Doug Cairns tallied in the last half of the middle session, while Don Culley and Mike Henry got the tying and winning goals in the final stages.

KEN MAULEY in the Saskatoon nets was the busiest of the two netminders in the high-scoring contest, stopping 33 net shots. Russ Rietzl at the other end was kicking out 21.

Saskatoon played without the services of their high-scoring centre, Mike Shabert, who was out with an infected leg.

AN EIGHT-FOOT screened shot after Sutter had poked the puck through a Calgary defencemen's legs from behind the net. Ed Penn hit his first goal early in the first period and he got the second at the same place in the third frame when he broke into the clear, cleared the net and sent it out, and back-ended to the twine.

After 12 minutes of the second session, Sutter was left unmarked in front of the Calgary goal and

Edmonton Lacks

Zip After Trip

Flyers showed one period of good hockey, but that was not sufficient to offset superior goaling by Malie Hughes and Lethbridge Maple Leafs edged Edmonton Flyers 4-3 at the arena here Friday night.

It was the first loss sustained by Flyers on Edmonton ice since Nov. 1 and only the third at home this season. However, the setback should not be taken too seriously as Calgary won over Saskatoon to move into a tie with Regina. Goals and Stamps are one point up.

FLYERS had just arrived home yesterday morning from their swing into Saskatchewan, and appeared in any event, expecting to be the second period when they were played Leafs by 30 miles or so. They played only six minutes of the form which had carried them to the top of the standing. Their timing on passes was usually off.

Morey Rimsdal, the league's leading scorer, viewed the game from the sidelines, but he says his back injury is coming along nicely and is anticipated he'll soon return to the lineups.

Stamps must better than at their last game, Leafs fitted into the game, wide open at both ends during the second period, and then a goal sent Leafs ahead just after the break.

Flyers were unable to take advantage of a tripping penalty in the second period, but they were able to score a spectacular save just as Edie Edie.

LATOSKI's second goal which put Lethbridge up two midway in the second period, but it was a puck sliding into the net beside the post, appearing to be deflected off the stick.

Successive penalties to Lethbridge kept the game close, but the team short-handed until near the end of the session. Half right through, but was blocked and then Flyers had been outplayed by Lethbridge.

Hustling Before Deadline

Coast Circuit Goes

On Puck Talent Hunt

VANCOUVER, Jan. 31.—(CP)—The deadline to transfer or bring new players into the Pacific Coast Hockey League is tomorrow and there's a general scramble on in the league to get before the barrier closes.

One of the in-line hockey players, Seattle Ironmen boss Frank Dutton may come up with the prize catch of the season.

DOTTEN has Neil Tremblay, star forward from the Quebec Aces, on his way by plane to beat the deadline. With 25 goals and 21 assists, Tremblay has been a star in the scoring in the Quebec league, sometimes leading the toughest amateur circuit in existence, last season.

Dutton, on a trip to the east last week, also produced a surprise. Ralph Tuck, former Calgary Hall of Fame Canucks jumped into the Vancouver team, completing a deal with New Westminster Royals boss Arnie MacKenzie to send veteran Jack McIntyre to the Royals in return for forward Bill Stobbs and defenceman Jack O'Reilly.

MEANWHILE, in the two-day, 10-team tour, Seattle Ironmen still top the northern division with 10 wins and 10 losses. The team has Alouche as front the southern section.

Tacoma, Vancouver and New Westminster are strong behind the Ironmen with Portland and Seattle's PCHL camps, in the basement.

THE SOUTHERN division, a hot race, has San Francisco, Fresno, Oakland and San Diego, all within striking distance of the top spot. Monarchs.

In the Western International Hockey League, Kimberley Flyers this year sport a squad which has old rangers from the league for another Alouche. Flyers' running away to the top. Smoke-eaters, Spokane Clippers and Nelson Maple Leafs have been selling away their talents with double figures scores.

Cancellation of Olympics Possible

ST. MORITZ, Jan. 31.—(CP)—A year-old domestic dispute between rival Olympic States Hockey organizations assumed somber international overtones as cancellation of the fifth winter Olympics became a possibility only hours after their opening.

After a day of feverish political activity and behind-the-scenes maneuvering which diverted attention from the opening ceremonies of the winter Olympic games, the International Olympic Committee ruled last night that:

THE 1968 HOCKEY games scheduled among nine countries should be postponed as part of the Olympic program.

Hockey Broadcast

Ban Is Overruled

PORT FRANCIS, Ont., Jan. 31.—(CP)—Major R. V. Holmes said last night that because of the number of protests received he had decided to overrule the Port Francis Recreation Council and grant permission to radio station CKFT to broadcast senior hockey games from the arena here.

Major Holmes said protests had come from citizens throughout the Port Francis district over the ban imposed by the council. The council announced Thursday night that it had been forced "with regret" to take the step because attendance had dropped off at the games and it was felt the partial response badly rested in the fact fans were to stay home and listen to the air.

The mayor said tonight's game between Port Francis Canadians and the Rangers from Shovelton, Minn., would be broadcast from the rink.

Elderly Curlers Like Friendship Of Roarin' Game

WINNIPEG, Jan. 31.—(CP)—After a half-century of curling play, 81-year-old Alex Douglass holds to the firm belief that "the big thing about this game is the friendship it breeds."

Douglass, a slim build with a perpetual twinkle in his eyes, adds "If a fellow isn't in the game to make friends, he has no right to be a single stone."

THE VETERAN, who can be found any day of the week perched in his favorite spot behind the glass window at the granite club, started curling in 1897 when, as he explains it, "somebody put a broom in my hand and told me to start sweeping."

Although he isn't quite sure of the date, he thinks it was "around 1899" that he entered the Manitoba bonspiel for the first time. At any rate, he has played or participated in every provincial final since that year. As a player, he accumulated 25 trophies in provincial championship competition.

CALGARY GINGER ALE

Mayor Ainlay Will Heave Initial Rock on Monday

Mayor Harry Ainlay, an ardent exponent of the roarin' game himself, will toss the first rock and sound 128 curling rinks off in the hunt for prizes in the Alberta Curling Association's 31st annual bonspiel Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

The opening ceremonies will take place at the Edmonton Club, and the 128-rink entry, smallest in many years, didn't perturb the officials to a great extent. Bruce Hamilton of the association, who learned his curling in the small town of Hinton, Ontario, and Secretary-Treasurer Jim McLeod, attributed the big drop from last year to the exceptionally mild weather.

THE UNSEASONABLE weather has curtailed curling in the country points this winter and officials believe that had a big hearing on this year's entry. Tom Hines, assistant to McLeod in handling thespiel, advanced the theory that there is a shortage of rocks in the country.

There are 56 city rinks and 72 from the country and all the winning contestants of last year will be back with the exception of W. T. Kingston of Saskatoon, who took home the T. Eaton Co. Trophy and James Brandon of Hardisty, who topped the North West Brewery trophy.

FIVE DRAWS will be played morning (at) with the 9 o'clock in the morning battles being staged in the Edmonton Motors fall city event. The 12 noon draw will open the Calgary Brewing competition, while the 3 p.m. draw will start play in the Grand Challenge, one of the premieres. The 6 p.m. draw will complete the first round of the Grand Challenge and open part of the King Edward, another primary, and the 9 p.m. will be all-King Edward. The Tuesday morning

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

I am going to take my space today to talk a little about the "Why Grow Old?" Marathon which is now in full swing. Thousands of women who were in have already received their directions, while there are thousands more who have not yet gotten there.

I am always sorry to receive complaints because it indicates that readers may wonder if we have been careless, or that they are extremely anxious to start their program. When I tell you that the Marathon brought in more than fifty thousand requests in a few days' time, you will understand that we are answering mail as fast as a large train that can do nothing but answer.

The job of operating, reading and waiting is tremendous. Then too, some letters require personal analysis.

Therefore, you can start your eight-week marathon as soon as you receive your material. If you wish to the other hand, if you want to go along with the regular eight-week plan, I feel certain that all mail will be answered by the last of the first week in February.

Be sure to weigh and measure yourself before starting in and keep a careful record of your progress. Weighing not often than every two weeks. Take it slow and steady so you will not become discouraged, and will actually benefit by your experience. Many women expect to lose weight at first, and as a result, experience little or no success. Many fail by the way.

Because of this, I am under no obligation to write me, but I do want you to know I am interested in the results you achieve and would like to hear from you at the end of your eight-week effort. In the meantime,

Many more readers will be interested in the results of the eight-week effort. In the meantime,

Bridge

By William E. McKenney

Do not let an adage lead you astray. There is no rule in bridge that does not have to be broken at times. I am referring today to the old expression, "There are thousands of people waiting the streets of London because they failed to lead trump."

If the declarer leads trump in today's hand he loses.

Let's discuss the bidding for a minute. I do not particularly like North bid of two no trump. He is taking a big chance that the club suit is wide open. He has good diamond support, so it would not hurt him to bid three diamonds.

When South bids three clubs North is correct in avoiding three no trump. He has heard his partner bid three diamonds, indicating that the most that South can have in spades is a singleton, and may even be void.

West made a very good opening when he led a trump. Declarer realized that he would have to take the club honor, and that he would have to set the diamond honor. If he took another round of trump before he set the diamond, the opponents would be able to ruff him down and gain control of the hand.

So he correctly won the opening lead in dummy, led a club and took the ace.

Certainly your case is a sad one, as it is an unusual one. It is sad because it is painful to think of a woman flouting her blindness and having all the material for happiness in her hands and recklessly throwing it away.

Why there are millions of women who are breaking their hearts over men who never give them any proof of love, heat and snuff, and who would give their very bones to have a husband such as you have. And there are millions of women who would ask nothing better of Heaven than to have a lovely home and a good bank account like you have.

And you have them all into the bargain. You have an appreciation of your good kind husband, no gratitude for his tenderness and generosity to you and his love for you sets on your nerves. Can you beat it?

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been going with a man for about a year. He is a big fine-looking chap, jolly and good-natured and affectionate. In fact, he has every quality that I admire except that he is a miser. Never works over his head, but I hesitate to marry a man with out energy. What is your advice?

UNDECIDED.

ANSWER: Tell him that if he loves you he must let you work, and that if he will get a good job and keep it for about a year you will then talk about marrying him. Not otherwise. Until the fault that a man can have, no one is perfect.

Bored By Husband Seeks Marriage-Out

DEAR MISS DIX: You are at times telling things what to do to keep their husbands. How about telling me how to get rid of one? He is a good man, never says a unkind word to me and loves me. His entire pay check is to me. But the trouble is I just don't love him and he gets on my nerves. I have told him this and asked him to leave, but he refuses.

Sometimes I think of leaving him, but I like my nice, comfortable home and my good bank account. I am so fed up with my husband that sometimes I go for a week without speaking to him and I will not go anywhere with him. What shall I do?

MISS H. H. T.

ANSWER: I should say your technique for alienating a husband's affections couldn't be improved upon. If a cold, peevish, glum wife, who won't go out with him or whom with him at home, doesn't drive a man off in search of the Other Woman, nothing will. Your husband must have the active qualities of a mustard plaster. If he sticks to you after the way you treat him.

I am so discouraged. What can I do? DISHEARTENED.

ANSWER: We can do one thing. You can hang on to your money and refuse to give your husband a cent. My advice to you is to pay your mother a fair board and keep the balance of your money for yourself.

Will Extend Dosco Contract

GLACE BAY, N.S., Jan. 21. (CP)—Freeman Jenkins, president of district 36 United Mine Workers (C.I.O.), announced last night that the union contract with Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation will be extended to Feb. 25. Current contract was to have expired at midnight today.

His announcement followed on the heels of Dosco's offer of a 40-cent a day across-the-board increase in the district's 13,000 miners or a 50-cent bonus conditional on acceptance of a plan for revision of working conditions in all collieries.

Mr. Jenkins said the district board of the union would meet Tuesday to make arrangements for a referendum of the membership on the proposals.

The company previously had offered the union a 25-cent-a-day increase on condition that it accept a plan proposed for revision of working conditions. The new union is asking an increase of $1.0 a day.

A New Slim Line

It is much easier to adjust the formula and find a variety of sugar than that of the interest. Varying the amount of sugar in a formula is often the quickest way to improve the nutritive value in the baby's diet. In using malt sugar, a popular type for formula, the mother must understand that this sugar is needed as of cane sugar or corn syrup. When the formula fills the baby's stomach, it is not the interest of the four or five or more, it is the result in constipation.

It is desirable that he should a day and while it is found and of a darker red than that of the interest, it is not so hard, dry or difficult to pass.

Sometimes a change in the form of the sugar will be helpful, brown sugar or table molasses, being more laxative than other types. One tablespoon or more of either of these substituting for the same amount of the type of sugar being used, may work a real change in the consistency of the stool.

The child who is still cough for the first few days after birth, in both the vegetable and fruits of the diet with excellent results. Both of these foods contain indigestible residue and it is the bulk in the bowel which helps to promote intestinal activity. Prune pulp is better than prune juice and I know one conscientious mother, who never let a day go by without serving prunes in some form. While I do not think this is necessary, at least, I find it extremely helpful in avoiding hard stools.

Prunes, either juice or pulp, are not substitutes for orange juice. Even if prunes are given, the daily portion of orange juice because of its vitamin C content is still essential.

It is well for the baby's own sake, to refrain from using sugar about whether there is or is not a moist movement. Children react quickly to a mother's anxiety, and it is well not to cultivate a neuritic attitude toward this daily ceremony.

The habit of giving laxatives merely intensifies any disposition in constipation. Laxatives clean out the intestinal tract, but leave there as again a collection of waste matter there will be no movement. One can see how this would insure a "virtuous circle" with no end in sight. Better far to look upon food as the natural way to encourage the bowels to do their own work.

Turn Call-Off Into Lovely Rug

Everyone likes to get something for nothing. And when you can make such a worthwhile "something" as an attractive rug from scraps, that's really worth something! Why not take a tip from other thrifty homemakers — turn worn-out flannel sheets and blankets into colorful rugs!

There are no end of striking rugs you can make out of old flannel sheets. Then it's a simple matter to dye your material, according to your own design. Brown, tan and gold colors, which can be combined for an effective border, rug. An old sheet, cut into strips and dyed dark blue and powder blue, makes a lovely Colonial rug. Even your old flannel can be salvaged and brought to new life as a lovely richly textured rug.

How to work out your design and complete the rug? Full directions are given in our Reader Service booklet No. 38, "Hosier, Knitter, Crocheter, Knitter, Tufted and Woven Rugs."

Send this coupon for "New Ideas for Handmade Rugs" to Edmonton Bulletin, Reader Service, 60 Front St. W., Toronto. Fill in name, address with some, booklet title and No. 38.

The Book of Knowledge (Department: Things to Make and Do)

In making a bonnet for a doll, a lone piece of material (1) is gathered on one side (2), with a straight piece on each end. These two ends are then drawn down over the head of the doll. It is finished (4) with ribbons for tying, two ribbons, and lace edging around the front.

This and the following articles are taken from the Book of Knowledge and can be clipped for saving in a reference book.

A BONNET FOR A BABY DOLL.

If you have a baby doll, here is how to make a pretty little bonnet from a straight piece of material as shown in picture 1. It is gathered on one side about 1 inch from the edge as shown in picture 2, leaving a straight piece on each side. When the ribbon is drawn quite tight, draw together the two little straight pieces which you have left on each side of the gathering, and you will have a little round shape shown in picture 3. This represents the back of your bonnet.

On each point of the front a ribbon is sewn to fasten the bonnet under the chin. To trim the little bonnet, put a flat piece of lace over the front edge, as shown in picture 4, and sew it on. Make your stitches very close together so that they will not show.

A round piece of cardboard, about the size of a fifty-cent piece, should be covered with the material and adorned with lace or feathers-stitching to cover up the gathered circle at the back.

The two little bunches of ribbon which are fastened to the top (see picture 4) are not so easy to make. There is a right way and a wrong way to make a ribbon bow.

The right way is to tie a little loop with strong thread (a long thread is required), bringing an other loop by the side of the first one, then a third and a fourth. We will then always tie the same thread always and round the ribbon without using a needle until the rosette is formed. The rosette is then secured to the bonnet with a couple of strong stitches.

Some milliners first make and trim their hats in muslin, which can be cut, sewn, done and undone until the shape is perfect. This is the way in which you should first try to make this little bonnet. Try it in muslin or crepe paper, which is soft and elastic. In making a model out of crepe paper, we need not be afraid of spoiling good material.

HOW TO BLOW A BRICK OVER

An ordinary building brick is set up at the end of a table. Then you challenge one of your friends to blow it over. He will puff away like a great rail, but the brick will remain firm in place.

It is now your turn to blow. You first place the brick upon a paper bag, leaving the open end of the bag dangling over the edge of the table. Then gathering up the edges of the open end, you blow into the bag. As the air rushes in, the bag will gradually fill and the brick will topple over.

Increased Fares
For Montrealers
MONTREAL, Jan. 31.—(CP)—Montrealers last night were faced with the possibility of a boost in train fares as the Railway Commission decided to sell three tickets for a quarter instead of four, but the time when travellers on Canada's biggest urban transportation system would feel it in their pockets was months away.

Two of the three commissioners, who supervise the operation of Montreal's Tramways Company, favored raising the fares to meet an anticipated deficit of the company, partly controlled by the provincially expropriated Montreal Heat, Light and Power Company and Shawinigan Water and Power Company.

A third voted against the increased price of train tickets as well as a move to set a new cash fare of 15 cents after the interest of the present 10 cents after midnight.

But the decision will not go into effect for two months because under a bill approved yesterday by the Quebec legislature a delay of 60 days would be given and in created party wishing to appeal.

Mohandas K. Gandhi once wanted to live to be 125. But only three weeks ago he said he did not want to live that long in a world torn by strife.

IN ONE of the last interviews he granted a foreign correspondent, Gandhi told me he did not want to live to see either "world carnage or the mutual destruction that is going on in India."

I visited Gandhi just before 11 last India. He was sitting in the brilliant sunshine on the grounds of his house, only a few yards from the spot where he was assassinated. When I asked him if he still hoped to live beyond the century mark, the wizened Mahatma grinned.

"You are taking 25 years off my life," he said. "My ambition is to live to be 125."

But then, suddenly, grave he added:

"Here you may see the world despair. I don't want to live to see world carnage or the mutual destruction that is going on here. Today I am not playing an effective part in restoring Hindu-Muslim peace. In the union of India all people must feel equally safe, whether Hindu, Parsi, Muslim, Sikh or Christian. I am sorry that I have been unable to do this."

"NOTHING has happened, but all these things are in the air today and no one can say when his turn will come."

A week later Gandhi was to undertake his last fast for peace. If true peace were to come to India, Gandhi said then, it would double his intense wish to live a full span of life doing service to humanity.

At least 125 years or, as some say, 135 years.

But once before he expressed doubt that he would attain the goal. That was last summer, when he told of his sorrow that rioting in India had not observed the teachings of non-violence.

Although his fast a year ago succeeded in stopping the Calcutta riots, he was bitter over the bloody Hindu-Muslim fighting which later swept India's capital of Delhi and other cities.

"Peace in Delhi, India as it is peace, is brought about by police force."

Political Future Of Newfoundland

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Jan. 31.—(CP)—The 17-month life of the Newfoundland National Convention ended in a 14-minute session yesterday and its recommendations for the political future of this old colony will be discussed by the federal cabinet relations office immediately.

The memorandum ensured that a choice between a return to responsible government or a new constitution government will be placed before the people of Newfoundland next spring.

No recommendation for confederation with Canada was included in the 45-man convention's 29th vote against its inclusion was noted.

St. J. E. Emerson, administrator of the commission government, in dissolving the convention exhorted that "Newfoundland return to a democratic system either by administration of its own affairs or association with some other country."

The reference to an outside country was widely interpreted as indicating that the question of union with Canada will be inserted by the British government on the ballot, enabling the Newfoundland people to make a final, three-way choice.

PRISTON HALL, Kent, England, (CP)—A former bachelorette has been converted into a chapel.

If he goes for one call he would have to do it all for him and he was not physically able.

After the interview, again in accordance with custom, I submitted a question to Mr. Gandhi. The Mahatma decided it could not be published then because there was nothing significant in it.

Pasteurization Health Safeguard

Medical science has proven that through intensive research that pasteurized milk is the only safe milk. Pasteurization eliminates bacteria which cause such milk-borne diseases as bovine tuberculosis, typhoid fever, undulant fever, septic sore throat, paratyphoid and dysentery. Pasteurization does no harm to milk's nutritive value.

Immunization Sure Safeguard

Many thousands of Canadians are alive today because when they were young they were immunized against such diseases as smallpox, diphtheria and whooping cough. Smallpox has been practically wiped out in this country by vaccination. Similarly, tetanus is on the way to elimination through the use of the tetanus toxoid vaccine. In the case of diphtheria, there is an anti-tetanus toxoid which prevents lockjaw. So, the wise-immune!

Chicago Plans Cut Smoke Nuisance

CHICAGO, Jan. 21. (HUP)—Chicago aldermen are considering a plan for central heating, air conditioning and electrical systems in the Loop which agencies claim would cut smoke volume in the area 50 per cent.

Cost of the project is estimated at $45,000,000 and plans call for completion in three years after it is authorized.

Education Aid Health Program

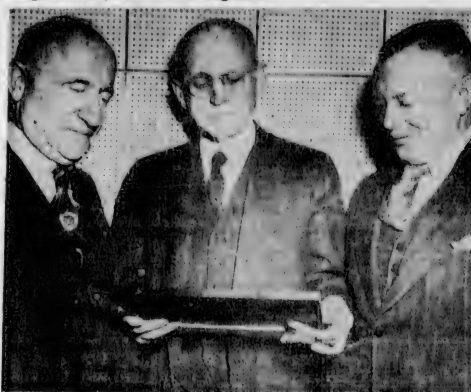

Much unnecessary illness has been, and can be, prevented by educational means. Thousands of lives have been saved and much suffering prevented by campaigns carried on by the official departments of health and the voluntary health agencies. Everyone should know how to guard his, or her health.

MORE HOMES BUILT

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP)—Stratford has 62 more homes now than it had 10 years ago. The town's annual report shows. Last year there were 5,342 homes, compared to 4,720 in 1922. A "home" for official purposes is any separate domicile of two rooms or more.

Were Badmen of West Redheads? One Expert Holds Blonds Get Nod

CHICAGO, Jan. 21. (HUP)—Did a large number of badmen of the old West have red hair or did they have blond hair and blue eyes? Time was when comments on the color of an outlaw's hair were "fighting words."

BUT SIX-SHOOTERS gather rust

as two experts carry on the argument about red-headed outlaws with articles in the Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology.

Dr. Hans von Hentig of the University of Kansas City started the fray when he wrote that the number of red-headed men among the noted outlaws surpassed their rate in the normal population.

"It seems that red-headedness is often combined with accelerated minor innovation," he said.

In those days "accelerated minor innovation" revolved in a question of which man was quicker on the draw.

Philip J. Rasch, a corrective therapist at the Veterans' Administration neuropsychiatric hospital at Stawell, Cal., replied in an article that a disproportionately high number of "badmen" were blond with blue eyes.

He found in a history of badmen in the west that nearly 50 per cent of the gun slingers were blond, whereas the American Institute of Public Opinion found only eight per cent of the nation's population in that class.

"Guard Your Health" Wisest Rule of All

When anything is well done, it is most likely that a lot of "know how" went into the job or else it wouldn't have been a success.

IN THE FIELD of health, many people—medical assistants, public health officials, physicians and others—have put a lot of "know how" into the business of making people healthy, but they still need the personal co-operation of those same people.

Each person has a job to do in the matter of guarding his health and the health of his family. However, if he doesn't "know how" he can't do much of a job.

In an effort to preserve in Canadians a realization of the benefits of good health and the appalling costs of sickness, much of it preventable, and untimely death, the Health League of Canada, the Dominion's leading voluntary health education association, has designated the first week of February as National Health Week—Feb. 1 to 7.

It is hoped that through this observance—the fourth such annual affair sponsored by the Health League in co-operation with health departments and departments of education throughout Canada—the people of Canada will acquire a lot of "know how" concerning matters affecting their own health and the health of their families and their neighbors.

IT IS TRUE that public health officials and others in the health and medical fields don't know everything about disease control, but there are things they do know—and it is their duty concerning preventive disease which must be followed by the public at large if humanity is to keep marching toward the goal of optimum health for all.

For instance, it is known that much disease is preventable—that medical science has provided us with the means to avoid many of our sicknesses, accidents and untimely deaths. So, we need to do as we are advised to do by those who "know how" and help them wise.

preventable disease. Medical science cannot do it alone—the help of everyone is required. To help, everyone first should learn the "know how" and then put that knowledge into practice.

IN THE FIELD of health, the "know how" as far as the average person is concerned merely means an intelligent understanding of a simple set of health rules. Here are a few rules which, if followed, will benefit the follower's physical and mental well-being.

Eat right for health—follow a simple diet.

Be sure the milk you drink is pasteurized.

Avoid dirt—practice cleanliness.

Actors Want Too Much

Director Abandons Movie
Due to Big Salary Demands

By Patricia Clary

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31. (HUP)—Sam Wood has become the first producer to throw out his plans to make a movie rather than give in to "exorbitant and prohibitive" actor salaries.

WOOD SAID the salaries asked by name stars have gone up to the point where they look like the Santa Anita rare track mutt handle.

"Financing and producing a picture simply isn't practical if you have to pay such salaries," Wood said.

The producer had planned to make "Tugboat Annie" for Universal-International release but shelved it after several months of battling casting difficulties.

"There was a time, during the man shortage and the war, when actors would get away with these extravagant demands, but now the honeymoon is over, and they don't realize it," Wood said.

"Many producers get along by laying out too much money to actors, particularly in percentage deals where the player wound up collecting the picture's profits and the producer and backer wound up holding the bag."

Latest of the "exorbitant" salary deal Wood pointed to was the one which gives Errol Flynn $250,000 a year for 15 years for 14 weeks of work in one picture.

"Flynn may be one of the few who's worth it," Wood admitted.

"Some top players have enough box office pull to convincingly drag in a lot of extra customers."

"BUT THOSE players can be counted on your hands. The trouble is that a lot of others who had a little luck getting in some good pictures with good stars now think they too are box office dynamite and can get away with any preposterous figure."

Wood said he didn't begrudge a top income to a top star but that actors' wars make tip star salaries worse, cutting their own throats and that of the movie business.

"More producer-directors should

Industry Needs
Health Programs

In any industry, health maintenance should be as much a part of operating expense as plant or machinery maintenance. The cost of a health maintenance program is infinitesimal when compared to the cost of sickness to the industry. Industrial medicine is essential to the success of any industry. It is the employees who have been cut out of the picture of regular plant health and medicine services that "invention is better than cure"—also cheaper.

Nurse Is Important In Health Program

The Canadian nurse of today is meeting present-day needs by adjusting her services to include both the sick and the well in the home and the community. The Canadian Nurses' Association says in a National Health Week message to the Canadian people.

HERE IS THE TEXT of the message: The nurse in 1942 finds herself in a streamlined society where non-essentials are eliminated and changes to meet new needs are commonplace. She has had to adapt her services over a period of years to meet the demands of a changing society.

Nurses are making an important contribution in maintaining the health of Canadians so they may fulfill their responsibilities and enjoy their rights. The nurse has always given conscientious and skillful care to the sick, and she continues to recognize this as a fundamental function. But it is not enough.

Human and economic loss due to preventable disease and the promotion of health. The nurse is a member of this team who brings the knowledge to the individual and helps him to use it for the improvement of his health.

TODAY'S NURSE has added a new function to her age-old service of care to the sick. Her responsibility to society is now recognized to include the sharing of her knowledge of healthful living with her patients. The nurse serves the infant, child and adolescent by bringing to the parents an understanding of their children's physical and emotional needs. During this school year, the nurse sees the child in school as well as in the home.

This provides an opportunity for the nurse to contribute to the health education work of teachers and parents. Throughout the individual's school years the nurse continues to serve him by interpreting health practices, individualized to meet his particular needs as he sees him in the factory, office, clinic or home. Hereafter, she has become especially aware of the needs of the aged.

So, it can be said the nurse is meeting present-day needs by adjusting her services to include both the sick and the well, in the home and the community.

Alberta's Health Program Makes Outstanding Advances

By Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross
Health Minister

The opening of National Health Week Monday makes it timely to review some of the advances in public health care made in Alberta in the past few years and to indicate, to some extent at least, the plans for further advances in the year ahead.

WORK of the provincial department of health is never-ending. It has increased yearly since inception of the department 28 years ago and will continue to enlarge as long as there are diseases threatening the health of our people.

Any review of the accomplishments achieved toward health education, research, control of disease epidemics or of the many other phases of department activities can best be done by dealing with each phase or branch of the service separately.

Tuberculosis Service
With the passing by the Alberta Legislature in 1938 of the Tuberculosis Act, this province became the second in Canada to make provision for treatment for all residents suffering from infectious diseases. The Ministry has expanded the way for the great expansion of free diagnostic services. Tuberculosis seen in recent years.

THE COMBINED diagnostic services of the statutory and mobile clinics have been extended recently. The number of people taking advantage of the free service offered by the clinics during 1941 was even greater than the 28,000 figures on the number X-rayed during the past year still are being compiled.

Since last fall, this mobile X-ray clinic has been carrying on its itinerant clinics in Alberta's two major cities, Calgary and Edmonton, where blanket coverage of the population was attempted. During the year ahead, the clinics will extend their operations into smaller cities, towns, villages and rural areas.

Hospital accommodation for the treatment of sufferers from tuberculosis also has been increased. In 1941, there were 210 beds available. By 1942, this had been increased to 485. Plans now are under way for the construction of a large new sanatorium at Edmonton. It is hoped a start will be made this spring.

Polio-myelitis Services
In the Dominion to provide special facilities for the care of polio-myelitis victims where, in 1938, a unit was added to the University Hospital for this purpose.

ANOTHER "FIRST" was established in this phase of health work when in 1938 the polio-myelitis service at the University Hospital gave free medical, surgical and hospital care for all residents of Alberta suffering from the after effects of the disease. Arrangements were made under this legislation for the supervision of polio-myelitis cases in out-patient clinics after their discharge and for the provision of free supplies, special diets and educational material, appliances as well as rehabilitation assistance.

Cancer
In 1941, special legislation provided for the appointment of a director of cancer services, the establishment of free diagnostic clinics and the provision of free X-ray and radium treatment, free surgical treatment when any of the treatments are ordered by the cancer clinic. Provision has also been made for free hospitalization for cancer patients where, in the opinion of the cancer clinic, such hospitalization is recommended.

Through their mobile, full-time preventive health services are made available to the people and to the smaller urban centres. With an adequate staff, the health unit becomes an effective organization for preventive medicine. It communicates with every aspect of the community disease control, including vaccinations and inoculations.

Diverted Health Units
Through their mobile, full-time preventive health services are made available to the people and to the smaller urban centres. With an adequate staff, the health unit becomes an effective organization for preventive medicine. It communicates with every aspect of the community disease control, including vaccinations and inoculations.

Mental Health
This phase of work is being greatly expanded. The past year has seen a start on a major building program concerning provincial institutions and most of it will be completed during the year ahead. This INCLUDES the construction of a new form dormitory and a new laundry building at Ponoka and the construction of two new buildings for the accommodation of male and female patients at Red Deer. It also is planned to renovate the present main building at Red Deer as soon as it is possible to evacuate patients to new quarters.

New building to accommodate incoercible types of patient has been started at Ponoka. A full-time dormitory to provide accommodation for 100 women patients is under way. The former Normal School at Camrose has been converted into a new building equipped for the care of aged mental patients. Some patients have been moved into the building and others will be accommodated in the existing buildings.

general sanitary inspection of the food inspection, prevention and control service, infant and child health service, health education, nutrition and mental hygiene. All members of the health unit are health educators.

SEVENTEEN UNITS are in operation at the present time in eight of which the service is provided by a public health nurse in each district. It is hoped, as soon as the necessary number of public health nurses can be obtained, to have a full health unit staff available in every district. The complete preventive public health service can be provided.

Division of Nutrition
In order to maintain a high standard of public health service throughout the province, the function of the department of health is to provide leadership, direction and assistance. With this in mind, a new division, nutrition service, has been established under the direction of an Alberta University graduate in household economics. A family nutrition survey organized jointly by the provincial and Dominion departments of health has been completed.

PURPOSE of the survey is to determine the nutritional status of the people and show the relation of these to nutritional deficiencies.

Services for Pensioners
An amendment to the Public Welfare Act authorizing the provision of free hospitalization and treatment services for all Alberta residents receiving blind pensions, was passed at the last session of the Legislature. It became law on June 1, 1941.

Dental service is complete for recipients and dependents of such allowances and blind pensions. All age pensioners receive dental services with the exception of dentures.

Hospitals
There are 55 municipal hospital districts operating within the province. The latest assessable average covered by the plan is 1938-1939 with 58,000 people or nearly one-third of our provincial population who may receive benefits.

All hospitals in the province are inspected periodically whether they are approved or not. Approved hospitals are those which have the building, equipment and service to conform with the hospital regulations and they received the provincial grant of 45 cents per patient day until April 1, 1941, at which time it was increased to 10 cents.

APPROXIMATELY $20,000 is being expended on this building program. Last August the mental health division expanded its services by appointing a psychiatrist to direct psychiatric work in the province. Headquarters for this full-time service is in Calgary.

Milk Is Health Food Of First Importance

Health truly is a great asset, and milk occupies the place of honor in the list of "Foods for Health." It is the one important health agent that should be given prominence in the diet of Canadian people.

MILK is indispensable to the infant. It is essential to the proper development of the child. Invariably the chief cause of death for the child, for the adult, too, is the deficiency of milk in the diet. It is the most valuable and essential to the daily diet. Scientists, nutritionists and health authorities, after years of diligent investigation, enthusiastically endorse and support the assertion that milk is "the most nearly perfect human food."

The increasing degree of co-operation among those engaged in the industry, namely, the producer, the distributor and health and control officials, is convincing evidence of the recognition of the vital importance of the quality and safety factors in the public milk supply, and thereby the well-being of the nation's health.

THE PROCESS known as "pasteurization" has proven its incalculable value. Scientific pasteurization has absolutely no effect upon the nutritive value of milk, and it is a final and effective safeguard.

Milk of quality, protected by this process, is the only milk that can be safely consumed in the home. It is the only milk that can be safely consumed in the home. It is the only milk that can be safely consumed in the home.

Milk should be used freely because of its unique value as a builder of tissues, and assistant to growth, an invigorator, a nerve stimulant and a promoter of sleep. That's a "fact" about milk.

Milk is perishable and must be given proper care. Keep it clean and in a cool place, protected from light and thus prevent the loss of the important Vitamin B2 (Riboflavin).

Due to the CARE now given to the handling of milk, it is proper to term it as a "protective food." Briefly, the increased consumption of milk is recommended for all at least five important reasons.

First, the increased consumption of milk is recommended for all at least five important reasons. Second, the increased consumption of milk is recommended for all at least five important reasons.

"Social Hygiene Day"

Conduct Said Problem Social Disease Cases

In the case of venereal diseases, prevention means an understanding that conduct and not medication lies at the core of the problem, it is stated by the Health League of Canada in a National Social Hygiene Day message.

Canadian Health Department Busy

Canada has had a federal department of health since 1919, when a number of health activities were gathered together from several departments of government and placed under a separate minister. Since that time the government responsibilities of the federal government in regard to health have been expanded in the actual but steadily expansion of the health department's activities. In 1934, with the establishment of the Department of National Health and Welfare, the place of welfare services in promoting the well-being of the nation as a whole was likewise recognized.

THE HEALTH BRANCH of the federal department at the present time contains 18 divisions and directorates. Some of these are responsible for the administration of specific laws. For example, the quarantine, immigration and marine division is responsible for the medical examination of immigrants entering Canada under the terms of the Immigration Act. The food and drugs divisions and the Laboratory of Hygiene are concerned with the purity and strength of many scores of foods and drugs used by Canadians.

Other divisions of the health branch, notably nutrition, mental health, venereal disease control, dental health and child and maternal health, are engaged in educational and informational work involving the preparation of films, pamphlets, posters, films and displays, and the writing of articles for newspapers and magazines.

Eat Right For Health

The Health League of Canada, composed of "National Health Week" advisers that there is no one factor which affects the health of the people as the food they eat. One qualified nutritionist says everyone should learn to eat the right food. If they wish to be healthy, they should eat a diet which includes whole grain cereals, whole wheat bread, milk, eggs, raw and cooked vegetables and fruit, fish and various kinds of meat.

Health Hints (Sponsored by the Health League of Canada)

Be regular in all your living habits. Remember, each day's work and playtime are equally important. Cleanliness is important, particularly be sure to wash your hands thoroughly before each meal. Clean your teeth after every meal, if possible. Learn to eat plain foods for health—cooked whole grain cereals, whole wheat bread, milk, eggs, raw and cooked vegetables and fruit, fish and various kinds of meat.

For two years he lay paralysed, with little hope for the future and then, obtained permission to attend the St. Anne's Veterans' Hospital as an outpatient and made such a good recovery that last June he was able to return to his laboratory, working from a wheelchair. He studied hard, improved his technical skill. Today the job is his permanently.

Urges Church Show Concern for Health

By her message and motives, the Church must show a constant concern for the health of the people, it is stated by the Rev. Dr. R. C. Chalmers, chairman of the national committee of the Health League of Canada, in a National Health Week message.

THE MESSAGE TEXT: "A famous 18th century English translation of the New Testament used the word 'health' for salvation. The saved life is the healthy life—mentally, spiritually and physically. Health and holiness are relative words for they relate to the wholeness of life."

By her message and motives the Church must show a constant concern for the health of the people. Her teaching commits her to exalt the value of her personality as, under God, of supreme worth. The knowledge that thousands of people in Canada are laid aside annually by illness—a large amount of which is preventable—ought to make the Church conscious of one more aspect of her task, that of doing all that is possible to better the life of the individual, not only by her own word and work but also by aiding those factors and organizations in social life that are conducive to health living.

Churches can promote the interests of health and foster health education in the following ways:—Sermon sermons should be preached on the relation of health to the gospel, and organizations

Flourine Latest Dental Weapon

"The new ray of hope" in the dental profession's fight to lessen the decay of teeth is Fluorine. It is stated by the Canadian Dental Association. In a message issued in conjunction with National Health Week, the dental association says that if water supplies can be mechanically infiltrated with the required amount of fluorine without harmful results, "we can look forward to a gratifying lessening in the future in the prevalence of dental decay."

Fluorine is an element that is a close relative to chlorine, which later is used in purification of water supplies. It was discovered that in localities where there is a natural supply of fluorine in the water supply, (one part per million is an ideal percentage) the prevalence of dental decay was lessened by 50 per cent. Fluorine is present in this percentage in relatively only a few places throughout the world, but experiments are now being carried out in Canada and the United States to determine if adding the required quantity by mechanical means will obtain the same result as where it is naturally present. It will take from five to seven years to determine this, according to the dental association statement, which adds that careful scientific studies are being made to determine the action of fluorine on all parts of the body.

SIGEVRE, France, Jan. 31.—(UPI)—While most of France complains of insufficient heat, this winter resort is depressed over the lack of cold and snow.

2—Church groups should, from time to time, have films, speakers and literature to bring the message of health to their people. Churches have many opportunities through literature and the spoken word of relating health facts to people.

3—Church youth especially should be taught the intimate relationship between health and a high standard of moral living.

4—Churches should proclaim the great truth as stated by the Apostle: "Your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit which is in you, which you have of God... are about this year. With the gift of living healthily in your body, and in your spirit, which are staying away in droves."

'Lost' Planet Is Believed Possibility

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 31.—(UPI)—The astronomer once may have had 10 potential planets instead of the presently known nine.

That is the theory of Dr. Carl A. Bauer of the University of Michigan Observatory.

Dr. Bauer said a meeting of the American Astronomical Society that his theory is based on a long-standing hypothesis. The belief is that such a planet also was the parent of the thousands of asteroids or minor planets which inhabit the portion of the outer system between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter.

The supposed planet, Dr. Bauer said, would have had a makeup similar to that of the earth—nickel-iron core, intermediate shell of iron-metallic material and an outer mantle of rock. The planet probably was smaller than the earth, and therefore solidified earlier, he added. He estimated that the planet exploded several hundred million years ago.

5—Churches should proclaim the great truth as stated by the Apostle: "Your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit which is in you, which you have of God... are about this year. With the gift of living healthily in your body, and in your spirit, which are staying away in droves."

Is Major Scourge

Cancer Costs Canada $50 Million a Year

Each year cancer costs Canadians a total of $50,000,000, while annually 50,000 Canadians become its victims with death toll of 14,000. Each cancer case, according to best available estimates, costs an average of $1,000 a year—while the loss in earning power, with other expenses arising from each cancer death, is estimated at $5,000.

CANADA'S CANCER fighters—surgeons, radiologists and research experts—are doing a job that can be proudly compared with that of any other country in the world. It is stated by the Canadian Cancer Society in a National Health Week message. But they need help. Younger men must be brought into the fight to take an increasing share of the burden from the shoulders of the older men. Yet today it is not economically practical for a young medical graduate to serve the long apprenticeship needed to train a competent cancer surgeon, radiologist or research worker.

Thank to the generosity of the Canadian public, the Canadian Cancer Society and many of Canada's provincial cancer foundations and institutes have been able to make a start at providing graduate schooling and research fellowships. But the cancer problem is long-range, and the needs of the cancer patient so pressing, that the question of training the cancer fighters of the future still remains largely unanswered.

Dr. W. R. FRANKS, research director at Toronto's Hasting Institute, told one of his most promising research workers who recently told Franks, regretfully, that his family responsibilities forced him to drop his research work and go into general practice. Says Franks, "I don't blame him. I'm in a good position to observe, and I don't think the situation is quite as bad as the picture it. However, there are a few points on which most smokers can learn up to advantage of themselves and others, and here they are:

There are some places in Canada where smoking is not allowed, such as street cars or city buses, although it usually is not in long distance buses. Since smoking is barred, and in nearly all Canadian theatres, "those who wish to smoke at theatres or concerts can do so at intermission in the foyer."

Stuckly Canadian
by Claire Wallace

Smoking is a habit I've been asked to take up in an etiquette book by one of our readers who said, "I don't smoke and quite a few are rule about it." As a "non-smoker myself," I am in a good position to observe, and I don't think the situation is quite as bad as the picture it. However, there are a few points on which most smokers can learn up to advantage of themselves and others, and here they are:

There are some places in Canada where smoking is not allowed, such as street cars or city buses, although it usually is not in long distance buses. Since smoking is barred, and in nearly all Canadian theatres, "those who wish to smoke at theatres or concerts can do so at intermission in the foyer."

IF YOU ARE dining in the home, it is not correct to smoke at table until you have permission. "Smoke between courses is a habit to be discouraged. For instance, if you people have to have a cigarette between each course of a meal, it is inconsiderate, unhygienic and messy. At a dinner party, if there are not cigarettes at the table, do not poll out your own and start to smoke until the end of the meal and then, of course, ask permission to do so. The correct way is to wait for the host or hostess to invite you to smoke."

In a public restaurant, there are slightly different rules. The business man or girl, dining alone and in a hurry to get back to work, is under no obligation to the office and boning for a cigarette. It is within rights to light up and smoke, even though a stranger is sitting at the table and still dining.

Smoking is unbecomingly as possible, without blowing smoke across the table, and it should be no objection to it. Be careful about blowing smoke in another's face. Flicking ashes or rubbing out the cigarette in china of any kind, or on cups and saucers, is really rude—as is crushing out a cigarette on the floor with your foot. Why do people do things like that? Another objectionable habit is flicking ashes on the floor. It is continually annoying to many people do this, even "feminine smokers." The putting part is—do they flick ash on their own floor and carpet at home, and then have to go around and sweep them up? So it hardly seems worth it.

A thoughtful trick, and one that often causes damage, and can be a menace to life and property, is the careless habit of putting a cigarette on the edge of a table or on the edge of a book, or on an ash tray in such a way that the cigarette may fall off and burn.

Names Pritchett Communist Member

SEATTLE, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Harold Pritchett, district president of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) in British Columbia, was named a Communist party member by Nat Honig of Los Angeles, a newspaperman, when he testified yesterday before the Washington state-American anti-communist committee in session here. Honig, a former party member and an editorial executive on Communist-controlled newspapers, said he knew Pritchett as a "party member."

(Pritchett was in Vancouver, B.C., "I was not a Communist and never attended their meetings.")

Honig told of being assigned by the Communist party in 1937 as editor of the Timber Worker, the publication of the International Woodworkers of America. He said he attended numerous meetings with Pritchett and "I discussed the party line for the paper with him frequently."

Wood Workers Seek Wage Adjustment
Demands of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) for immediate pay bonus brought a flat refusal yesterday from loggers' industry operators.

"Operators are not agreeing to the IWA's demand for a wage increase," said R. V. Stuart, spokesman for the operators. He said the industry does not support the IWA's demand for a wage increase and Country are usually reserved for banquets or formal dinners.

Fight Against Tuberculosis Is Still Far From Won

Advances against tuberculosis have been great, but there are still many gaps in the Canadian defenses against the disease, it is stated in a National Health Week message issued by the Canadian Tuberculosis Association.

FOR INSTANCE, there still is a shortage of approximately 4,000 treatment beds and there is a drastic shortage of nurses for institutions, the CTA statement says. It adds that lack of uniformity in facilities in various parts of the country hampers the fight, and that there is need for an overall rehabilitation program for all the child persons, including the tuberculous.

Then, the fact that 5,397 Canadian died of tuberculosis in 1946 and that at any time there are approximately 50,000 people suffering from the disease would tend to paint a gloomy picture. It is true that Canada's tuberculosis story can be termed "the complete victory," but the story does have some bright sides. For instance, since the organization of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association in 1900, the death rate per 100,000 of population has been cut from 200 to 47.2.

ANOTHER DIRECTION in which there has been considerable progress, although it is not yet all that it should be, is in the field of diagnosis at which tuberculosis is diagnosed in the early stages. Cases found in the early stages are almost certain to be cured if treatment is started at once.

In 1940 at least 85 per cent of cases had reached an advanced stage prior to discovery. Now, only 35 per cent are in the far advanced stage. In 1940, only 25 per cent of cases were in the early stages. In 1946, 40 per cent were in the early stages. In 1947, 45 per cent were in the early stages. In 1948, 50 per cent were in the early stages.

These improvements are paralleled by increased services provided in larger part by official health departments. In 1900 there were only 100 tuberculosis clinics in Canada—now there are 1,500. There were no clinics for early diagnosis in 1900—today there are more than 100, while mobile X-ray equipment—much of it operated by provincial branches of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association—is becoming more and more common throughout the country. One of the most hopeful features in the fight against TB is the interest of voluntary lay workers in the field of prevention.

consider any kind of financial change in wages until the 1947-48 contract ends in June. The IWA, with 37,000 members in British Columbia, asks an immediate interim wage adjustment to meet increased costs, union officials announced. It asks that adjustments be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1948.

DIGGING OUT

NOT so very long ago it snowed during the night and in the morning nearly 10 inches of snow covered the ground. Children were delighted to see the snow. They put on their snow suits, dragged sleds out of closets and brought out Christmas skis which, up to now, had been tried out only on the hall carpet. While children made snow men, threw snowballs and screamed in delight, older boys shoveled walks and janitors complained over the extra work of clearing paths.

Ten inches of snow was another matter in the Teenie Weenie village. Snow completely covered the tiny houses. There was no skiing or sledding that morning for the Teenie Weenies. The little men, no taller than matches, were forced to get out their tiny shovels, which hardly held half a thimbleful of snow, and dig their way up to light and air.

"You fellows will have to dig down to the woodpile if you expect to eat," announced the Cook. "There's enough firewood in the woodbox to get breakfast, but that's all."

While some of the men cleared a path from the kitchen door, other Teenie Weenies dug out the front porch. The roof also had to be cleaned off, for there was danger that the heavy snow would break it down.

This was a lot of work and tiring, too.

"Ah, shucks!" exploded the Dunce, wiping beads of Teenie Weenie sweat from his forehead. "What's the use of shoveling all this away? We'll have more snow and then we'll have to do it all over again."

"You'd just be building snow men or be throwing snowballs if you weren't shoveling, and it's a great deal more important to get that wood for the kitchen stove uncovered than to be playing," put in the Policeman, who liked his meals on time.

"Gogo and I want to build the biggest snow man ever seen in this village. But we can't even start him if we have to shovel all day," the Dunce complained.

While the men were hard at work, Nick, the red squirrel, came bounding over the snow. He stopped to watch the Teenie Weenies work, and when he understood that they were trying to uncover their house, he motioned them to get out of the way. With the use of his front paws, he began digging with all his might, and in no time at all he cleared the snow away from around their house. However, he did some damage at the same time. In his digging, he accidentally scattered the tiny pieces of stove wood all over the place and pulled two boards away from the floor of the kitchen porch. But Nick did save the Teenie Weenies a lot of shoveling.
